CHCPRT001 Identify and respond to children and young people at risk

Child Protection Training

NESA ENDORSED

The CHCPRT001 Identify and respond to children and young people at risk (Child Protection) unit, describes the skills and knowledge required to support and protect children and young people who are at risk of harm. This unit applies to workers in a range of job roles providing services to children and young people including in community services and health contexts.

This training relates to the National Quality Standards (NQS) Quality Area 2 – promoting children’s health and safety.

Assessment is carried out in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

As a result of the training, you will learn how to:

- Implement work practices which support the protection of children and young people
- Report indications of possible risk of harm
- Apply ethical and nurturing practices in work with children and young people

Topics include:

- Indicators of the different types and dynamics of abuse as they may apply to age, gender, disability, culture & sexuality
- United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child
- Trauma-informed care
- Duty of care responsibilities
- Child protection legislation in the relevant state or territory
- Ethical considerations
- Overview of the legal system and how it pertains to the job role
- Organisation standards, policies and procedures

Locations:

We service all areas throughout the Central Coast, Newcastle, Sydney and beyond. In-service sessions are welcomed! Virtual classroom sessions also available.

Cost:

Cost is inclusive of all resources – all you need is access to the internet. See overleaf for pricing options. Upon successful completion of the training and assessment, participants will be awarded a nationally recognised Statement of Attainment.
